

Gabriele Ciminelli – Speaker, Inventor, Global Leadership Thinker

“It is when you let go of your own needs to serve others that you can begin to understand how to give back to the world”.

Gabriele has spent 20 years in the corporate realms learning to serve others through various roles in different countries and cultures. Throughout his journey, he has learned that companies thrive when leadership truly focuses on their own people. Customer satisfaction is higher, sales are better and most importantly, people thrive through happiness and engagement.

Gabriele’s coaching style brings together a unique blend of Western, Eastern and Polynesian leadership concepts to neutralize workplace behaviors and nurture the human spirit within all of us.

“When leaders ‘live’ the values they truly believe in, they inspire like-minded followers.”

Professional Experience

Gabriele is the founder and owner of “Silent Leadership Institute” which ultimately helps people, groups, companies, and schools find greater fulfillment in life. For companies, Gabriele focusses on positive behavior change to ignite workplace happiness, engagement and customer satisfaction. Executive coaching plays a big part in workplace change transformation. Gabriele works with CEOs, Managing Directors, Regional heads, Managers, and other senior level executives who wish to improve their leadership effectiveness and understand that a people-focused culture produces positive outcomes across sales, customer satisfaction, employee retention and engagement.

Gabriele is a sought-after Motivational speaker in workplace behavior change, especially around mindfulness, and building relationships. He has presented to various industries, including technology, retail, hospitality and transport industries. He is currently authoring a book on how to build positive relationships in the office advocating for an employee-culture first and doing what you love both at a professional and private level.
